The Benefits

- All training delivery follows a blend of ICAO, EU & UK Department for Transport practices and is compliant with the UK National Aviation Security Training Programme, we also ensure all local and national legislation and policy is fully researched and woven into the modules.
- The courses are built holistically and cater for those with little or no previous experience through to those in Management roles that need refreshing and aligning with new operating procedures and standards.
- In addition to the core modules, we blend in bespoke computer based training and in-depth practical training that compliments the use of specialised equipment and practices, including Access Control, ID Issue, Vehicle Search, Advanced X-Ray operation, Explosive and Narcotic Detection Equipment, Building Search, CCTV, Command and Control, K9 Substance Detection, Aircraft Search, In-Flight supplies and Cargo operations.
- Cargo training delivery complies with the new EU operating procedures coming into force from July 2014, whereby all carriers flying cargo or mail into the EU from a non-EU states must have certain security standards in place. (ACC3)
- All training is delivered by an industry qualified and internationally experienced team who have spent many years working in diverse operations around the world, using this experience and first hand familiarity, they are able to create environments that deliver an informed, flexible and committed workforce.
- Our training programmes are developed on a modular framework that targets both the individual and client groups with a blend of appropriate classroom and extended practical knowledge and understanding, resulting in skills directly applicable to the area being developed. From our experience, this approach represents a far more effective way of raising security awareness, rather than simply delivering 'generic theories'. One size does not fit all!
